VISUAL HISTOLOGY 26 DVD SERIES

A list of titles is available on our website at www.visualhistology.com

Students get everything they need not only to learn, but also to understand and enjoy the basic areas of Histology.

- * Step-by-step guided tours through the fascinating world of microscopic anatomy are easy to follow

- * Innovative sequential comparisons using light and electron microscopic images make complex structures simple

- * The 26 video programs start with the microscopic anatomy of cells, progress to tissues, and move on to organs in a logical way, building knowledge gradually and effectively

- * A practical exam at the end of each program, provided for self-assessment, insures that students will not miss any of the key concepts.

The Visual Histology DVD Video Series contains 26 individual video programs, each a half-hour long, devoted to teaching a specific topic in Histology.

Each video program is on its own DVD. The Series starts with a program on “The Use of the Light Microscope.” The next program is “The Cell.” Then the programs go on to cover tissues and organs, one at a time, and finish with program 26, “The Final Examination”.

Each video program consists three parts:

- 1) An introduction to the material;
- 2) A detailed description of images seen on microscopic slides and electron micrographs; and
- 3) A Practical Examination for student self-evaluation.

The Visual Histology DVD Series can be purchased as a complete set of 26 DVDs for $1500.00. Individual DVD programs are available for $75.00.

THE CLASSIC HISTOLOGY POWER POINT SERIES

A list of titles is available on our website at www.visualhistology.com

A "must-have" for any committed educator.
It not only helped me organize my classes, but the students have the opportunity to review the material at their own leisure!
Thank you, Moran & Rowley!

Martha S. - UK

The Classic Histology PowerPoint Series

consists of 24 individual CDs. Each CD contains a PowerPoint demonstration that contains a high-quality series of diagrams, light micrographs, and electron micrographs that can form the core of each of 24 lectures in Histology.

The subject matter is presented in exactly the same format as the Visual Histology DVD Video Series. Thus, the Professor has access to a set of visual lecture slides of microscopic images that complement the 26 DVD Video programs.

The material on the CD can be downloaded directly onto the Professor's computer for use in lecture as a (projectable) PowerPoint demonstration.

Universities that have acquired the DVD Series, a subscription to the Streaming Video Series, and the Classic Histology Power Point Series have found they comprise a complete course in the basic topics of Histology.

The Visual Histology Power Point Series can be purchased as a complete set of 25 CDs for $1500.00. Individual CD programs are available for $75.00.

The Visual Histology Streaming Video Series contains the same content as the VH DVD Series, but in a different format.

Here, each of the 26 half-hour Histology programs — instead of being presented in DVD format — have been encoded by our Engineer into software that can be uploaded into a University's server.

Once our software (in both WMV or FLASH video formats) has been installed on the server, the Faculty and Students can view the entire content of the Visual Histology DVD Series on a computer.

Access is controlled by the University via a password given to individual users.

This “intra-net” distribution of content via the Visual Histology Streaming Video Series is available by a subscription that is renewable annually.

The cost for a one-year subscription is $1500.00. A Site License agreement, signed by both Visual Histology and the University, is provided with the annual subscription. The Site License gives the University the legal right to make the copyrighted materials in the Streaming Video Series available to the University community on demand.

"Moran and Rowley's Histology Series is excellent, and represents a real breakthrough in the teaching of microscopic anatomy to students interested in tissue and cell biology. The students love them, and find them a very entertaining way to learn the material"

Keith R. Porter, PhD.
Former Professor of Biology at the University of Colorado

The Text-Atlas "Visual Histology", co-authored by Dr. David T. Moran and J. Carter Rowley, is a 300-page "E-Book" that contains matching sets of light micrographs (taken from stained histologic materials on glass slides) and high-quality electron micrographs.

Each image is described in a clear, understandable fashion.
An interactive glossary defines all terms that may be new to the beginning student of Histology.

The "Visual Histology" Text-Atlas — designed to work with the Visual Histology Integrated Learning Series — presents the major topics of Histology in the same order as the other media do.

The "Visual Histology" Text-Atlas is offered at no cost. It is an open resource available to users online on our website at www.visualhistology.com.

It is currently used by over 5000 faculty and students worldwide per month.

Thanks so much for your interest! Should any questions arise, please call, email, or write us at any time.
